Winter 2022

Volume 9, Issue 1

I hope everyone had a wonderful Holiday. We hope you are staying healthy in the new year as so many are dealing with the uptick of COVID-19 case numbers.

The UM System is working on a new Economic Impact Report that will be released at the February Board of Curators meeting. The report shows the impact that the University of Missouri System has on the state of Missouri. There will also be reports from each university on their local regional impact coming out this spring.

The featured presenter for the luncheon was Dr. John Herron, who spoke on “Libraries in Democracies: Information in a Contested Age.” Dr. Herron speaks from authority as the Kansas City Public Library Director, which has undergone many changes as it attempts to meet the needs of its urban patrons. He noted that libraries are facing book banning challenges as questions arise about which books are “appropriate” to read. He also pointed out that libraries are increasingly becoming centers for providing social work, and during the pandemic they have also been the suppliers of computers to students who have had to do their schoolwork virtually.

Prior to undertaking his role as Library Director, Dr. Herron had a 17-year tenure at UMKC which culminated in him serving as the interim dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He also chaired the university’s Academic Innovation Council, established to inspire and support new educational programs within the university.

Upcoming Programs

Programming for the upcoming year is getting underway under Program Committee Chair John Ditto. We are excited to offer a breakfast series presentation on February 8 led by three of last year’s Scholarship in Aging awardees. The scholarship was established by UMKCRA to assist deserving undergraduate and graduate students who are doing research relevant to aging or gerontology at UMKC. They may be from any school or college within UMKC. The presentation on February 8 offers the opportunity for UMKCRA members to get a closer look at the research we are funding.

Besides bi-monthly special programs like the breakfast series, UMKCRA hosts three social events over the year: an April luncheon, which features a speaker and an awards ceremony; a September reception for new retirees; and a December holiday luncheon, which includes a business meeting and ends with a speaker or other presentation.

Scholarships and Recognitions

In addition to the Scholarship in Aging mentioned above, UMKCRA also offers a Going for Excellence Scholarship to female undergraduate junior or senior students. Recipients must have had at least three semesters of college, the previous semester at UMKC, and at least one semester to complete at the time of the award, as well as a 3.5 GPA. In 2021 four students were awarded Going for Excellence Scholarships.

In addition to awarding scholarships, UMKCRA also recognizes the achievements of UMKC retirees (both faculty and staff) for their outstanding contributions and achievements to the university, UMKCRA, and to their profession and/or community during their retirement period. Nominations for those awards are being submitted during January, and the recognition will take place during the April luncheon.

UMKC Participation in Community Connect

Of interest to both retirees and the Greater Kansas City community (and beyond) are a range of programs and activities brought together through UM's Community Connect initiative. Here are just a few in which UMKC is involved:

- Our Healthy KC Eastside (OHKCE) is a large-scale, community-based partnership addressing COVID-19 vaccine hesitancy and health inequities in vulnerable portions of Jackson County, MO. The UMKC School of Dentistry, School of Medicine, School of Nursing and Health Studies, and School of Pharmacy are all involved.
- The UMKC Office of Basic Needs is a response to 2019 survey data at UMKC indicating that 32% of undergraduates and 19% of graduate students experienced food insecurity, a common finding at colleges and universities in the United States. After further study and the work of a task force, the university created the Office of Basic Needs, housed within the Office of Student Involvement to provide resources related to food, housing, and finances.
- UMKC researchers in the School of Nursing and Health Studies have developed guidelines for levels of physical activity needed by school children. Researchers Joseph Lightner and Amanda Grimes have authored recommended changes to physical education requirements nationally. The new guidelines recommend kids get at least 60 minutes of physical activity each school day.
- On February 15 (6:30 pm) the UMKC Division of Diversity and Inclusion is sponsoring an online presentation/discussion by Yamiche Alcindor, White House correspondent for PBS NewsHour, moderator of Washington Week, and an NBC and MSNBC political contributor. The daughter of Haitian immigrants who met while attending Boston College, Alcindor has written extensively on the intersection of race and politics. She is often viewed at presidential news conferences asking penetrating questions of the current White House occupant. The virtual presentation with Ms. Alcindor is free, but registration is required. Meeting Registration - Zoom
